

WHAT IS MANUFACTURED TOPSOIL?

BURY HILL
LANDSCAPE SUPPLIES

The majority of topsoil's currently sold in the UK are created to meet a price point and either produced in whole or part from recycled materials which carry a high risk contamination, or a simple sand/compost mix which, whilst briefly meeting the British Standard, has no lasting mineral or nutrient benefits as these will leach out very quickly following heavy rain, effectively leaving just a bed of sand!

Bury Hill Landscape Supplies made the decision to produce and sell only high quality 'manufactured soils' many years ago and are now regarded as one of the country's leading manufacturers and suppliers of these high-specification, technically perfect, contaminate free mediums.

Working with the country's leading Soil Science and Landscape Engineering Consultancy - Tim O'Hare Associates, all our soils are created following extensive discussion and testing before being blended to exacting specifications to meet varying end uses. Our soils are created by blending together fully sustainable, selected single source inert subsoils, a mix of different specialist graded sands, various organic ameliorants and assorted horticultural sands and grits in very precise percentages. The end-product is a range of exceptionally high specification, very consistent, contaminate free soils which have been tested far beyond the British Standard requirements and designed and developed to fully meet the intended end use, be it a topsoil, subsoil, tree sand, lightweight soil or other specialist soil variation.

We currently offer a comprehensive and expanding range of manufactured soils which include Premium Topsoil's for lawns, plantings and general use, Specialist Soils for Ericaceous, Low Fertility, Alpine and Rose Bed planting, structural Tree Sands, a range of Lightweight Soils and a choice of Contract Soils and Subsoils with differing performance and drainage options.

The preferred choice for a growing number of discerning customers, all our soils are proven to be completely contaminate free and fully fit for purpose, allowing our customers to buy with total confidence and peace of mind.
